

As communities begin to feel the impact of the coronavirus (COVID-19), I want to share with you the steps we're taking at Fuzion Athletics to help protect the health and safety of our athletes, parents, and coaches and staff, which is always our top priority.

We're closely monitoring local and national reports on the evolving impact of COVID-19 and, based on guidance from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), the World Health Organization and applicable public health agencies, we've developed plans and established a task force that will allow us to respond timely and appropriately.

Our housekeeping and sanitization efforts at our gym have been greatly expanded. We're frequently disinfecting often-touched surfaces such as door handles, countertops, keypads, restroom surfaces, shopping carts and baskets. We're asking all of our associates (and we urge everyone) to follow the CDC guidelines to prevent the spread of the infection.

We feel deeply for those who have been affected. Thankfully, as of now, we're not aware of any associate contracting COVID-19. But we have implemented guidelines that instruct any associate who may develop symptoms or come into contact with infected individuals to stay home and follow the CDC's instructions. And impacted associates will be compensated for their missed work hours.

At this time, our gym is open for business during their regular hours to meet the needs of our athletes. If we become aware of any condition in any store that would make it unsafe, please rest assured that we'll close the store until those conditions have been addressed.

Again, the health and safety of our athletes, parents, coaches and staff are our top priority and we're committed to doing our part to help keep you safe.

Thank you,

Jamie Steffen
